The racing and track rules are clearly defined by the constitution, so that every wheelman can thoroughly acquaint himself with them. As only amateurs are permitted to join the league the racing under the auspices of the L. A. W. must necessarily be by amateurs. The rules on this subject say that "an amateur is one who has never engaged in, nor assisted in, nor taught cycling, nor any recognized athletic exercise for money or other remuneration, nor knowingly competed with or against a professional for a prize of any description."

The membership of the league today numbers about 40,000. It begun in 1880 with but 500, in four years it had reached 4,000. Four years later there were 12,000 members and in 1891 the membership reached 18,000. In two years past the increase has been greater than at any other similar period in the history of the organization. Capt. Newman, the club's road officer, was captain of the C. C. C. last year. The park cycle track is new, splendidly located, has the finest sort of rotten rock surface, is one-quarter mile, twenty-five feet wide, with a thirty-foot homestretch and banked ten feet high at the turns and is as hard and smooth as a floor. To those who are in touch with the details of this movement it is obvious that the time has come for a closing of ranks and a stronger and more systematic effort to attain a successful result. Thus far the work of the national body and that of the several state divisions has not been carried on with the concurrence necessary for the best results. The subcommittee on track are working with extreme energy to have all improvements done by July 23, and it seems more than likely that the inception of a new Tioga track will be fitly ushered in by one of the greatest race meets ever held in Philadelphia.

There will be eleven events, including several one-mile safeties, half-mile safety tandem and portance and possible methods of harmonious co-operation."

After stating facts concerning the organization to effect the object stated Chairman Potter refers to the agitation of the question and says: "Herein lies the key to the whole question, and in its solution there is room and work for all. For effective purposes it must be directed among those classes whose interest in good roads is a pecuniary one and whose purses must contribute to the cost of building and maintaining them. The common road, while in a general way the property of all the people, is, in a more immediate and direct sense, it he farmer's highway, and the intelligent farmer, therefore, as well as the immediate tradesman with whom he deals in his local market, must receive the arguments and facts which appeal for better roads."

A GOOD BEGINNING.

NEW BASE BALL season has begun and some of the enthusiasm characteristic of the springtime is noticeable now. There is always greater interest in the start in a race than when half the course has been run. So it is

It is with misgivings that one thinks of Cooney taking Dan's place at short. However, every one hopes for the best and all are disposed to give Mr. Irwin a fair show, for he is reported to have said that he did not have a fair chance last season, having to take the team which Mr. Barnie had gathered. Then Meakin and Duryea will be seen in the box, in addition to Killen and Abbey.

Manager Powers of the New Yorks says: "We Manager Powers of the New Yorks says: "We will commence the new campaign with Jack Doyle at second base. Probably the most important department of the league is that branch which is under the league is that branch which is under the often. His work in the box this season has been excellent, and he is better now than at any previous time. The team, says a Pittsburg ex-change, looks stronger than at any previous time this season, and if Capt. Burns adds a little snap and ginger to the part he will be called upon to act, there is no reason why our own should not make quite a showing on this trip. A deal for another pitcher may be made before the season is much older, but nothing definite on that score can be stated at the Joe Kelly is an elegant base runner, strong hitter and fine fielder. Boston, Chicago, Louisville and other clubs were making strong efforts to induce him to cast his fortunes with them and the Colonels boasted openly that they would capture him in spite of Pittsburg's agreement. So the Pittsburg officials, instead of waiting for Omaha to go under, stepped in and purchased his release. Boston people regard him as the find of the season and Manager Selee wanted him badly to cover left field for his team, as he considers him the peer of either McCarthy or Duffy in general ability.

Capt. Pfeffer says: "I do not want any young blood. I would rather have Bassett, Denny and Whistler than any of the stars in the Western League." This, with himself at second, will be the Louisville infield, though it is said that Jennings will play short and Bassett will go on first, letting Whistler go to the field. Picher Clausen was secured from the Western League.

Bhines and Harrington have been reinstated by the Cincinnati club. Curt Welch will re-place Browning in the field. Cincinnati is weakened by losing Mullane and Morgan Mur-phy will not be able to play again for six weeks.

Chicago secured Roat, Decker and Parrott from the Western League. When Decker mildly asked Anson if he was to play first base the big captain flew into a terrible rage. Anson drew himself up to his fullest height and, in language that would not appear very pretty in print, he proceeded to crush any ambition that Decker might have had of playing first base for the Chicago club. He informed Decker that he was the only man that would play first base for Chicago and when he couldn't do it he would retire from the business.

President Stucky sent them the ten days' notice of their release. It is probable that Dowse will be signed by Philadelphia. Kentucky's staple article proved too much for Charley Basect, and he was notified just before the club's departure that a fine of $100 had been entered against him for indulging too freely in intoxicating liquors. Manager Pfeffer may sign another pitcher and an outfielder.

Powers get Mike Kelly when he had the chance last spring. Midsummer is not the time to scour the country for players.

Manager Powers has absolute control of the New York team. He holds that power by virtue of a document signed, sealed and delivered by John B. Day. J. Walter Spalding and E. B. Talcott. Now let him exert it and give us some base ball.

Such plays, however, have won many a game. Most of the record players would rather line the ball out and take the chances of making a two or three-base hit than bunt for a single. Capt. Ward says in regard to sacrifice hitting: "To my mind a successful bunt is one of the prettiest plays in a game of ball, and you can't tell me that it is no good, because it invariably sets an audience by the ears and never fails to bring down the house. Besides that it shows head work. Now, our club has a new system of bunting, as you will find. We have two bats that look exactly alike. One is made of soft willow and the other is of a very hard wood. Thus the opposing club can never tell by the looks of our bat whether our man at the bat is going to tap the ball gently for a bunt or whether he is going to hit out. In this way we can surprise the enemy at our will. Sometimes they are looking for a bunt, play a close field on us, and as a matter of fact our man has the hard bat. The result is that he hits the ball out through the infield and we win games. The argument that bunting is playing ball like girls prettiest plays in a game of ball, and you can't argument that bunting is playing ball like girls is all in my eye. It doesn't matter whether you play ball like a girl or a baby so long as you can win from the fellows that play the game like men. Now, I don't go in for bunting because I can do it myself. I used to bunt, but I very seldom do it now. My men can do it and we teach our players the system."

That Tammany is by all odds the best threeyear-old of the year there seems to be no reason to doubt, as he has effectually disposed of nearly all the other claimants to the crown by his victories in the realization and Lorillard stakes. His Highness, who has never been himself this year, has yet to make his bid for the highest honors, and so has Lamplighter, but neither of these has displayed anything warranting one to believe that either of them could ever defeat the son of Iroquois and Tul ahoma when meeting him at anything approaching even terms. It seems most likely that they will have to be centent with fighting it out with that rattling good colt The Pepper for second honors, and it is no sure thing that he will not be able to dispose of them as easily as Tammany has of all his entegonists.

as Tammany has of all his antagonists.

It seems as if the true "sporting blood" was dying out among the people that have the management of racing stables nowadays. The battles royal that were so common, even within the last decade, seem to have fallen into innocuous decaded to the stable of the desuctude, and the stake races, instead of being the best races that are run, are among the most commonplace. Trainers seem to hate to put their horses into races where they have got to fight to get the money. They want bloodles trying to be relieved of the duties and yesterday morning tendered his resignation to Manager Hanlon.

There were rumors that Queenie was another borse, a ringer, in fact, and it was also hinted that Ed Corrigan still owns the filly. The board of FOR COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Friends of a Washington Man Propose to Push Their Candidate.

It has hitherto been the invariable custom tpon the election of officers at national enampments of the Grand Army to accord to he department in which the encampment is seld the selection of one of the chief places, usually that of the senior vice commander-inchief. While this has been the practice for ome time there is no rule, it is stated, confining the selection thus made to that particular office and no reason why the commander-inchief or the junior vice commander-in-chief should not be allotted to the local department in which the encompment is held, which, by an anwritten rule, is entitled without dispute to one of the highest places.

Knowing the established custom and with a prudent eye to catch all influence possible, the riends of one candidate have placed in circulation petitions, prepared for signature by those entitled to a vote in the department encampment, requesting that the name of their choice mander-in-chief. Some members of the G. A. R. think the fact that the candidate thus sough to be brought forward was the most promi-nent supporter and hardest worker for the suc-cess of the present department commander, over whose election there was some controversy, will provoke opposition to his candidacy.

It is said that petitions in favor of another comrade as candidate for the same office will also soon be placed in circulation, with a view of securing all possible strength for their can-didate. Comrades John C. S. Burger and Jas M. Pipes are named as the rivals for the office mentioned.

It is now stated that there will be a candidate also from this department for another office—no less, in fact, than that of the com-mander-in-chief. It has been claimed by many mander-in-chief. It has been claimed by many that this office should come to this department in September, and hence the friends of Charles P. Lincoln, at present one of the deputy commissioners of pensions, urge that he is the man who could both be elected and whose selection would grace the position. A G. A. R. man discussing the situation with a Star reporter said: "While it may be too early to commence active work in the interests of any particular comrade for the office he is believed to be fitted for it is evident it will be well for those who have influence in the matter not to indee it in such influence in the matter not to judge it in such a manner as to either widen the differences ala manner as to either widen the differences already existing or to obtain for the Department of the Potomac a lesser office than could be secured. This city is the proper place for office of the commander-in-chief, and Comrade Lincoln the proper candidate. Let all unite in the effort and he will be elected.

"As comrade Lincoln is a citizen of the state of Michigan, it has been suggested by some of the parties interested for other candidates that his name should be presented from his own state department of the G. A. R. But Comrade Lincoln's affiliation with the Grand Army is located in the Department of the Army is located in the Department of the Potomae, and he could not be a candidate from any other department notwithstanding th suggestion."

Col. Lincoln was a prominent candidate for the office of commander-in-chief a year ago, but withdrew because it was feared his continued candidacy might injure the chances of the city of Washington, which was contesting for the encampment, as it was claimed that both the encampement and the highest office would not be given to one department. suggestion."
